by the National Board of Trial Advocacy. He is listed in The Best Lawyers in America™ for both personal-injury (including malpractice) and workers compensation law. Casper has developed a specialty interest in complex liability with an emphasis on catastrophic brain and spinal-cord injury.

de Toledo is a former president of the Connecticut Employment Lawyer's Association and served in that position for more than a decade. She is listed in The Best Lawyers in America™ for employment law. de Toledo also served as the chairperson of the Labor and Employment section of the Connecticut Bar Association. de Toledo has developed a specialty interest in executive employment contracts and employment discrimination litigation.

Casper and de Toledo have based the firm on their fundamental desire to obtain justice for those who have been harmed. "It's essential to us," says de Toledo, "and it is what drives us to work so hard for our clients." Casper says he and de Toledo have earned a reputation over many years for taking on difficult cases and litigating them successfully. The admiration and respect from their peers for this achievement is evident in the significant number of cases that come to the firm as referrals from other lawyers, clients, and healthcare professionals.

The firm represents Casper and de Toledo's dedication to protect the rights of victims and ensure that the law serves all people fully and justly.

Husband and wife team Stewart Casper and Victoria de Toledo share the goal of ensuring that the judicial system works for everyone, not just those with power and money. They founded Casper & de Toledo as a litigation firm dedicated to representing individuals in personal injury and employment matters. "We are passionate in our commitment to helping people who have been seriously injured or who have been victims of discrimination in the workplace," says de Toledo. Adds Casper, "We are not deterred by well-funded opponents. We enjoy the David versus Goliath setting
